1. A meeting took place on 18 October 1949 at the main offices of the Berlin section of the SED (Landesvorstand Berlin), at which Hans Jendretzky, Chairman of the Landesvorstand, addressed about a hundred Party activists from all Kreise in Berlin. Adolf Deter, Chairman of the FDGB Berlin, was also present.
2. Jendretzky stated that the time had come for the SED, in conjunction with UGO, to organize strikes in factories in Western Berlin, the strikers making the following claims:

- a. higher wages,
- b. cost of living bonuses,
- c. immediate cessation of dismantling.

3. When a member of the audience remarked that the FDGB would be unable to pay strike money in Western Marks, Deter replied that the FDGB would support the strikes with adequate supplies in kind.

4. Jendretzky's proposals were discussed at a meeting of Kreis Tiergarten functionaries on 21 October. At this meeting a representative of the SED Betriebsgruppe at the AEG Turbine Works stated that the UGO leaders in his factory had expressed their willingness to strike, after the matter had been discussed by them with the FDGB. A strike had, in fact, since been arranged to take place during November. Other members present said that many of their UGO colleagues were willing to support strikes initiated by the FDGB. Functionaries who expressed disapproval at being required to co-operate with UGO were told that the time was now opportune to win over UGO members for the National Front.
